

Dr. Galindo's 10 Theorems of Christian Education

1. Stick to the basics.
2. Decide who you are before deciding what you'll do.
3. Process is more important than content.
4. No curriculum will solve your program problems.
5. You can't teach anybody anything.
6. People don't remember lessons.
7. There are just so many ways people learn.
8. Learning never ends.
9. There is no perfect program.
10. Learning is change.

Faith-Enhancing Congregational Traits

Faith maturity and congregational loyalty is strongly related to the characteristics of a congregation. The research indicates that the more each of the following characteristics is present, the stronger the faith and loyalty of both adults and youths. The size of each circle indicates its relative importance as compared to the other factors.

—Search Institute's
Effective Christian Education Study

